In some parts the mealy bug attacks, among other plants, geraniums, but we seem pretty free of this pest. Their covering is white and waxy in appearance and they are small in size. If you notice any of them in your garden the standby Malathion will soon eliminate them.

IN THE DESERT geraniums ould be planted where they get only the early morning sun, while in many valleys nearer the coast or north of the high temperatures

The Martha Washington, sometimes alluded to as the true Pelargonium, requires a different handling. Like the lowly geranium t should be planted where only the early morning sun hits it but should no' be pruned until May at which time they will have finished blooming. The Ivy Geranium or climbing Geranium, whose leaves are a small duplicate of the Martha Washington's leaves, throw out a dainty bloom and have an entirely different odor.

WE HAVE BEEN questioned bout the use of Lombardy Popars in the desert. We cannot say it would be a wise choice especi-ally near flower beds, a pool, or green lawn. The roots have the habit of creeping along in the damp soil and eventually offshoots of the roots, in their search for dampness, come above the surrounding ground and play havoc with your lawn-mowing machinery. In a prominent golf club in the Los Angeles area we watched several Lombardy Poplars being uprooted and destroyed because of costly damage to the fairway cut-trees from which to choose for day. Bush, Compacta (a small variety of the giant Deodar, Jacaranda, Willow Pittisporom, Orchid Tree or Bauhania, and Carob to mention only a few.

AMONG THE FLOWERS that are being transplanted from flats at this time we must mention the following decorative plants: Scabiosa or Annual Pincushion, Cuth-bertson Sweet Peas, Fairy Primrose, (needs rich soil, peat moss and shade), The Golden Gleam, one of the Nasturtiums but don't be stingy with water, the hardy Pot Marigold that will grow in almost any soil but be sure to cut off any old, unsightly blooms, Baby Snapdragon and Bachelor's

The bush species and the climbing species of Lantana are well worth considering, especially if you have a garden corner that needs some color.

THREE NEW POOLS, valued at $32,000, were installed at the Hotel here in a mammoth improvement project that will add 52 new units to the hotel by the first of the year. Hotel owner Doran May said the three swimming pools include a 75-by-30-foot pool for adults, a children's pool and a 35-foot therapeutic pool. May added that the old pool will be dismantled, along with four older hotel units, to make way for 52 units scheduled for completion by Jan. 1. May plans to start work next year on a new hotel restaurant and cock tail lounge. (Desert Sun Photo)

Indians Meet Perris High On Local Gridiron Tonight

Tribe Hit Again by Injuries

His already small squad further depleted by injuries, Coach Clare Ballagh was taking a sort of dim view of things today as he prepared to send his Indian football team against Perris High tonight for the second practice rumpus of the 1959 grid season.

Weston Naef and J. C. Walton, two stalwarts of the forward line, were removed from the roster this week due to injuries. Both were veterans and counted upon to bolster the squad this year.

ED ERIE is scheduled to start at center in place of Naef, one of the co-captains of the team, and Jim Rougley has been moved into Walton's spot.

Snider Faces Role of Goat In '59 Series

But Duke is Not Worried, Neither Is Manager Alston

CHICAGO (UPI) - Will Duke Snider, hero of many a World Series for the Dodgers, become the "goat" of the current Series with the Chicago White Sox?

Snider appeared to have a good start for the goat's role. The veteran outfielder equalled a Series record by committing two errors in one inning — the big third when the White Sox scored seven runs in their 11-0 rout of the Dodgers.

But the Duke, who has appeared in five previous classics,

WATCH OUT FOR EXPLOSION

Sox Awaiting Crack At Coliseum 'Thing'

CHICAGO (UPI)-The hitherto light-hitting Chicago White Sox who yesterday demonstrated a lot of power, may explode into a "Murderer's Row" against that short left field fence in the Los Angeles Coliseum when the World Series shifts to the far west. And if they do much better than they did in the first game yesterday-bad news for the Dodgers.

They were confident as they went back into their home park today, on the south side, one up on the Dodgers after that 11-0 clobbering.

BUT THEY COULDN'T wait to get a shot at "that thing."

'We might," grinned second baseman Nellie Fox, the "holler guy" of the Sox, "play better there than we do at home. I've played there, in the All-Star game, and it might even be better for us than it is for them."

Fox based his opinion on his single appearance in the Coliseum. He believed that even he, a left handed batter, might be able to smack the ball to the screen protecting the left field wall, only reach it. Guys like Al Smith, 251 feet from the plate.

DEAR TORN: Pack up your family and live where your husband lives. The children will adjust and they might even enjoy the move. No family man should be away from home for one to two years at a stretch. Money isn't everything. .

DEAR ABBY: Last week I wrote a long etter to my girlfriend and asked my mother to mail it for me. I know my mother read it because she's been asking me about a lot of things I mentioned in the letter.

The things I wrote in the letter were not true. I know it was wrong to make up things, but my girlfriend writes about the places she goes and the good times she is having and I wanted her to think I was doing those things,

Now I'm afraid my mother will never believe a word I say. How can I heal my guilty conscience and get my mother to trust me again? I am 15. TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Everyone makes mistakes. This is a part of learning and growing up. Tell your mother you realize how wrong you were in lying to your girlfriend, and that from now on you will stick to the truth. Your mother will have even greater confidence in you. I am through fighting with him I have even taken my pillow and tried to sleep on the floor with him, but he sends me back to bed. Don't you think he should see a doctor? He is only 31 and our marriage is nothing already. LONESOME WIFE

DEAR LONESOME: Of course he should see a doctor! Possibly all that stands between you and a good marriage is a firmer mattress, a bed board or a few treatments. Don't get off your husband's back until he has tried to find out what's wrong with it!

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I were invited to a dinner party. My sister is one of those people who always has to have a cigarette in her hand, so she burned a She apologized all over the place. The hostess took it good-naturedly, saying, "It was a very old

I took it to mean it was a "valuable old" cloth, and my sister said the hostess meant it was just a "worn-out old cloth."

On the way home my sister and I had some words about it. I said she should have offered to replace She said it wasn't necessary. Who was right?

OLDER SISTER DEAR SISTER: You were, Your sister should have offered to replace the cloth. A little note of apology or flowers the following morning would have been a nice

IT'S FUN TO BE A ROCK HOUND

Now that we are coming into cooler weather you will probably see more and more rock hounds on the prowl. Not being a rock hound ourselves in the true sense, we cannot quite explain all of its fascinating features. We do know that a lot of very sensible down-to-earth people get a lot of kick out of finding pretty stones. It seems the desert abounds in various kinds of minerals including semi-precious stones which can be cut and polished into gems of real beauty.

Now as everyone knows there are all kinds of rocks and the closer you get to the mountains over in the Las Palmas area the bigger they get. Man, oh, man are some of those rocks big. Being builders we naturally have to look at rock from an architectural point of view and sometimes these big boulders present problems. There is a saying that if you have a lemon make a lemonade out of it. In other words, turn a disadvantage into an advantage and that's exactly what our landscape architects have done in many cases.

Whether you are a rock hound or not come out and see our rocks. Actually what we want you to see is not only our landscaping, but our beautiful model homes So after you have your fill of rocks we would suggest that you drop in at 700 Via Las Palmas and see the gargeous model home we have there for your inspection. Mr. Herb Lakey, our representative, will not only show you around but will be glad to point out the ancient Indian Ceremonial Grounds over by Dry Falls where, incidentally, there are enough rocks to please anybody.

If you want to get a closer view of Dry Falls, here's a suggestion. Just a couple of blocks away at 963 Via Monte Vista we have another gorgeous model home in our Golden Vista Estates' development (this may seem like a sneaky way to get you to visit both homes but actually if you are in the neighborhood you shouldn't miss either one of them!). Getting back to Dry Falls, however, it is beautifully framed through the glass doors facing the mountains —a view that can never be cut off from some fortunate owner.
